

Guess My Age.net - How old do you really look?

With a wide array of television shows such as '10 years younger', hundreds of age reducing, wrinkle removing creams mixed in with a few more drastic measures being widely sort after, you have to ask yourself, are they necessary or just pure vanity? How old do I actually look?

Guess My Age.net is an age guessing website where you can have a crack at guessing the age of person after person. It really should carry a health warning – Age Guessing is Addictive! For the braver amongst us it is even possible to upload a photo and let members of the internet community give us an honest idea of how young (or not) we look.

Guess My Age.net was set up in 2005 by young internet entrepreneur Thomas Etherington, aged just 16 and armed with a small, £30 investment. The website has grown from a few photos of some of his friends to one of the most used age guessing websites on the internet today. It has thousands of members and gets over a 100,000 hits per month.

Guess My Age.net is easy to use and free to upload a photo onto. It's available online at:

<http://www.guessmyage.net>

Press Attention:

Guess My Age has grown via bloggers and forum users posting their photo for inspection, along with people telling all their friends. Below are some of the comments members of the press and internet community have made about Guess My Age.net:

“Website of the Week” - BBC Three Counties Radio (live on air; including interview) - 17/09/08

“Like Channel 4’s Ten Years Younger but far more addictive, this site is dangerous – not least because the last thing you want to stumble upon is a picture of that ‘28-year-old’ bloke that you found yourself pashing with a few weeks ago who turns out to actually be practically illegal. Ah, technology!”

http://www.whispermag.co.uk/FAVOURITES/82584/website_guess_my_age.html

“Do you want to know how old you really look? If you can handle the truth, log on to GuessMyAge.net”

X-Trax Broadcaster's Magazine - Web Scan Section - September 2008 Issue 133

“We’ve been enjoying this 'guess the age' game. Being clever sods, we're very good at it.”

<http://www.b3ta.com/newsletter/issue274/>

“After watching the brutal 'guess my age' section of shows like 10 Years Younger and websites like guessmyage.net, Chris Best and the Breakfast Team decided to find out how old they really look.”

<http://www.smoothradionorthwest.co.uk/presenters-shows/shows-adrw/chris-best-more-music-breakfast-show-ixwd/guess-the-ages/rkli48c4/>

“Visitors can look through a gallery of photos and make a guess as to how old the subjects are, then check to see the actual age (and hopefully be surprised).”

http://krisabel.ctv.ca/blog/_archives/2006/8/15/2227512.html

Note to Editors:

You may use our website's logo or screenshots of our website where appropriate. It is possible to integrate an age guessing page within your website for specific photos of your staff or you can have branded pages which show all of the photos available on the website. Photo opportunities and interviews are possible with the website's owner.

Contact Details:

If you have any questions or requests please use any of the following contact methods to contact Thomas Etherington:

Home Phone: 01483 834716	Thomas Etherington RE: Guess My Age
Mobile Phone: 07965361919	35 Apers Avenue
e Mail: info@guessmyage.net	Westfield
Website: http://www.guessmyage.net	Woking
	Surrey
	GU22 9nb